KEEP THE GOVERNMENT OUT OF YOUR BEDROOM

www.ldp.org.au

Australian governments seem obsessed with our private lives - our relationship status, our sexual activity (or lack of it), our hobbies, even what we eat. It seems everywhere you turn there is some nosy legislation or bureaucrat trying to control what we do.

It makes sense for parents to control what their children read, watch and do. But the government is not our mother and adult citizens are not children.

The Liberal Democratic Party is opposed to the government controlling or monitoring what adults do in their private lives. Even if a particular behaviour goes against the morals or religious beliefs of some Australians, if there is no victim, in most cases it should not be considered a crime.

Adults should be free to make their own decisions and deal with the consequences.

The Liberal Democratic Party:

- Opposes criminalising the sale of X-rated pornography
- Supports legalisation of adult prostitution
- Believes individuals are entitled to the same legal rights irrespective of their sexual practices or relationships (including gay unions)
- Supports the re-legalisation of recreational marijuana for adults and a review of current drug laws based on actual harm rather than perceived harm
- Opposes the criminalisation of victimless crimes and activities in which the participant is the only person likely to suffer adverse consequences

About the LDP

The Liberal Democratic Party believes adults should be able to make choices for their own lives without the interference of others. The LDP is based on classical liberal (libertarian) principles and supports individual freedom, small government and personal responsibility.

The LDP has been registered as a political party in the ACT since 2001 and federally since 2007. It is not part of, nor affiliated with, any other political party.

Help reclaim freedom

Join the LDP. Membership is free for non-voting members; $70 ($35 concession) for voting members.
